curred that the time had arrived to demand for the cause of the glorious principles we cherish, we the Southern and Western waters their share offer the following proposals: of federal aid, and to determine the great principles on which a system should be founded for interests had grown too vast and varied to tolerate longer uncertainty. The Memphis Convention was called, and was attended by the most prominent men of the West and South. Distinguished above all others came Mr. Calhoun, whose long and brilliant career ders. in the chief departments of government naturally indicated him as the President of the body-and the man whose counsel was to be first called for. He delivered a speech on tahowever, not so well approved in some parts | bers. of South Carolina and Virginia, and Mr. Calhoun was threatened with the loss of some of

But Mr. Calhoun rejects the improvement of harbors as well on the general ground that they are within the limits of States and not between them, as are rivers, as because the Constitution contemplates their improvement by the States to whom it gives evidently for that stantly on hand, at his old stand on Market purpose the power of levying tonnage duties street, a general assortment of goods in his line, with the consent of Congress. We consider the argument of Mr. Calhoun complete. Indeed, we see by the papers that it has convinced those in the States referred to, who were at first alarmed about his speech .-Mr. Calhoun has clearly expounded the Constitutionsl law on this subject-has shown its extent, its sufficiency for the case, and its limitation to the real cause which has arisen. He | Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions, has penetrated the true meaning of the Constitution, and vindicated the profound wisdom of its framers out of a passage heretofore regarded as a blemish on that instrument. As ong as that Constitution is maintained over the region which is washed by our waters, this commentary of Mr. Calhoun will stand for its interpretation.

TRHE preceding figure is given to represent the r SENSIBLE PERSPIRATION It is the great Evacuation for the impurities of the body. It will be noticed that a thick cloudy mist issues from all points of the surface, which indicates that this perspiration flows uninterrup tedly when we are in health, but ceases when we are off from the blood and other juices of the body, and dis-poses by this means, of nearly all the impurities within us. The language of Scripture is, "in the BLOOD is the Life." If it ever becomes impure, it may be traced dicept to open the pores upon the surface. Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies. All practitioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the Inpains, and no expense, to make their paper worthy of the metropolis, and worthy of the support o lomopathist deals out infinitissimals, the Pholopathist pleeds and doses us with mercury, and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills, pills, pills.

To give some idea of the amount of the Insensible Per spiration, we will state that the learned Dr. Lewenhock eat and drink eight pounds per day, we evacuate five pounds of it by the Insensible Perspiration.

This is none other than the used up particles of the blood, and other juices giving place to the new and fresh ones. To check this, therefore, is to retain in the sys-tem five-eights of all the virulent matter that nature demands should leave the body.

By a sudden transition from heat to cold, the pores are once to develope itself. Hence, a stoppage of this flow of the juices, originates so many complaints. It is by stopping the pores, that overwhelms manking ensible Perspiration. Let me ask, now, every candid mind, what course seems the most reasonable to pursue, to unstop the pores, after they are closed. Would you give physic to unstop the pores? Or would you apply something that would do this upon the surface, where the clogging actually is! And yet I know of no physician who makes any exteral application to effect it. Under these circumstance DULD take this opportunity of expressing | 1 present to physicians, and all others, McAlister's ALL his gratitude to the citizens of Wilmington | HEALING OINTMENT, or the WORLD'S SALVE.
